Old School notebook

The old school notebook was very important for me when I was watching the videos because I retain most of the information when I write it down on my notebook. When I am doing Projects and assignment it was a very good tool to look back and check on.

The quote that is still stuck in my head was “The function of education is to teach one to think intensively and to think critically. Intelligence + character = that is the goal of the education” by Martin Luther King Jr. For some people education seems like telling them what to do or guiding them to one path but in my opinion the more we learn about different things our scope of thinking changes rapidly and the quote explains that very well.

For the first 8 weeks I used 15pages to write down what I thought were very important for the subject. I wrote down 8 different quotes and I answered 8 different reflection questions. I usually write down quick notes on a separate notebook and re watch the videos again so I can write down the most important points.

For weeks 9-13 I used Google Doc to save core points and important dates.
